Vision and Mission

Youth Innovation Competition on Global Governance

YICGG is a global summit that aims to provide an opportunity for those aspiring students interested in global governance so as to interpret and spread their ideas.

YICGG was launched in 2007 by Fudan University, sponsored by United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) in China and organized by the School of International Relations and Public Affairs (SIRPA) of Fudan University.

In the past nine years, we have brought together hundreds of top students from more than 77 countries and regions to present their ideas to esteemed researchers and thoughtful leaders in the innovation space.

Initiative and Reputation

Youth Innovation Competition on Global Governance

The initiative to start YICGG is to establish a platform for the youth to meet each other and debate on global affairs, as well as to communicate and achieve a consensus on a broad horizon, concerning all mankind. The process of YICGG appears differently with that of the debates in daily life or on the Internet. It allows face-to-face discussion with the spirit of science, combined with critical and logical thinking, in order to produce a practical proposal with high academic value which can be applied to the real world.

YICGG thinks highly of young people's passion on global issues. Thanks to the high academic standard, YICGG has been cited as "the Academic Olympics for the Youth" among similar student activities.

YICGG2017 Themes

Youth Innovation Competition on Global Governance

A. YICGG2017 Themes

Energy and infrastructure play vital roles in our economic and social development. Limited resource and decreasing ecological diversity have struck the alarm to the international community and have emphasized the vitality of sustainable infrastructure and green energy. Hence, this is the direction which we strive towards. In Chinese President Xi's speech at Nazarbayev University in 2013, he first came up with the concept of the Silk Road economic belt. With the theme of Future Energy, 2017 Astana Expo aims to demonstrate achievements as well as problems in the context of future energy. SCO Summit 2017 highlights the potential of traffic transportation and appeals for intense culture and humanity exchange. As a specialized platform for global governance and youth diplomacy, YICGG2017 has selected Future Energy and Sustainable Infrastructure as its theme, expecting to contribute youth intelligence to sustainable development. Relevant suggesting themes are listed as follows.

YICGG2017 Themes

Interconnected Sustainable Infrastructure

- How can we design and establish an interconnected network to improve transportation in Eurasia? What kind of influence will the old and new mechanisms of global governance, such as World Bank and Asia Infrastructure Investment Bank, exert on this project? What kind of mechanisms can we adopt to make sure it is environmental and social friendly?
- At present, what are the problems in the practice of interconnected transportation line? How can we tackle these problems to guarantee a sustainable operation? How can we narrow the trade gap between different countries along the Eurasia transportation line? How can we spare the troubles in the clearance process of transnational trade through international cooperation?
- What kind of policy support can be provided by relevant nations for interconnected construction? How can we increase social capital flow of the construction of interconnection?

Competition Process

Youth Innovation Competition on Global Governance

Competition Process:

Note:

YICGG2017 includes three rounds of rigorous selection.

1Round: Participants pick a theme regarding global public affairs related to the competition and design a global governance proposal with creativity and foresight. The competition committee will confirm the participating teams for the second round according to the opinions of the experts.

2Round: Participating teams arrive in Astana for the rest competition. Each team/individual needs to present their ideas with an ignite talk on the topic.

3Round: The commission will regroup all participants into “World Teams” by drawing lots randomly. Based on the theme of the competition, the committee will also allocate the topics to each team. After conducting a discussion centered on their topic within a specific time limit, each “World Team” have to come up with a report for a project featured by creativity, feasibility and maximum effectiveness.
